POLIO VACCINE CLINICS TO BE SET UP MONDAY

Vaccination of first and second graders against polio is expected to be carried out in Morgan county as scheduled if the county's supply of the new Salk vaccine is received on time.

The local health department has scheduled the first shot for next Monday, April 25 at clinics at West Liberty and Ezel.

Some counties have had to delay their cliincs because the vaccine could not be delivered as soon as was first expected.

Morgan's supply of vaccine is to come from Indianapolis, Ind. Local health department personnel are attending a meeting of the Public Health Association in Louisville this week and it is expected they will receive Morgan's supply of vaccine there when it is flown in from Indianapolis Monday. If they receive the vaccine, clinics will be set up as scheduled next Monday.

School buses will be run to bring first and second graders to the two clinics. However, only children of the first two grades whose parents have requested the vaccine will receive the shots. Applications for the vaccine were sent to parents through the schools a few weeks ago.

Dr. Ralph Gullett will be in charge of the clinic at West Liberty and Dr. H. B. Murray will be in charge at Ezel. Health department personnel and volunteers will assist.

BOOKMOBILE NETS $50 AT 'WEDDING'

The cast that performed the "Mock Wedding" at the Christian church last week, repeated the show Wednesday afternoon at the high school auditorium for benefit of the Morgan County Bookmobile. A total of $50.00 was realized from the stage play.

The Bookmobile provides one of the greatest pleasures young people can enjoy—that of having books to read. This added fund will go toward furthering this important work in the county.

The "Mock Wedding" proved to be delightful entertainment from the very start, when Myrtle Gullett Stafford, with dulcimer in hand, narrated the sad story of the bride and groom in word and song, aided and abetted by Scottye Burton. Their vocal selections included "Sweet Elmiry" and "Ricochet Romance."

The bride, Wilma Gevedon, was radiant in a gown of white embroidered lawn, circa 1800, that had seen better days. She completed her costume with a vegetable bouquet, and wore tulips on her head. Her veil was several yards of cheese cloth.

Edra Burton, as the groom, was resplendent in an unmatched cutaway, mustache and red hair.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Eva Nevius, who was glad to give her and her debts away. Performing the ceremony was Nancy P. Turner, who found out the bride would not continue the ceremony until the word "obey" was deleted.

Martha Fannin was best man, complete with pin stripe suit, red, white and blue shirt, argyle socks and red hair. Bridal attendants were Melvyn Gardner and Sally Scragg, with Carolyn Spencer and Ginny Gardner as train bearers.

Ethel Elam Phillips was matron of honor. Included in the wedding were Stella Fannin, Mrs. Ratliff, Mabel Barber and others.

Playing inappropriate and offkey nuptial music was Rosaline Emrick at the piano.

The wording and all arrangements for the play were made by Mrs. Nancy P. Turner. Mrs. Turner is well-known for her programs here and they are always well attended.

Growers Won't Gain By Voting "No" on April 28, Group Warns

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 20—Farmers will not be able to increase their planting of burley tobacco for future allotments by voting out the present program, the State Burley Tobacco Referendum Committee, was advised today by the Department of Agriculture.

In some sections, the committee learned, farmers had in mind voting out the present program now and voting it in next fall and increasing their acreage in the meantime, thereby building their present base.

"The disapproval of the present program will not eliminate the re-determined farm acreage allotment for 1955. Any acreage grown in excess of the redetermined 1955 farm allotment will not be considered in establishing the allotment for any future year, regardless of the outcome of the referendum on April 28."

The State Burley Referendum Committee, representing practically every agricultural organization in the state, reaffirmed its position today in an all-out support of the present program by urging farmers to vote "Yes" or "in favor of" the referendum on April 28.

Even though the vote affects only burley tobacco, other tobacco groups are pledging themselves 100 percent support because they feel that it is a matter of saving the program, said Clarence Maloney of Henderson said.

The Burley Tobacco Referendum Committee is composed of representatives from the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation; Burley Tobacco Growers Co-operative Association; the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce; Kentucky Bankers Association, Burley Auction Warehouse Association; Kentucky Press Association; Kentucky Farm Press and Radio Association, Stemming District Tobacco Association; Western Dark Fired Tobacco Association; Eastedn Dark Fired Tobacco Association, Associated Industries of Kentucky and the State Department of Agriculture.

MORGAN SITES FOR CAMP ARE MAPPED

A group of citizens interested in advancing Morgan county sites for the location of the proposed 19-county 4-H Club district camp met Wednesday in the office of W. Major Gardner, Morgan county 4-H Club Council chairman, and mapped plans for the proper presentation of Morgan sites to the camp location committee.

The location committee at a meeting here three weeks ago voted to visit and inspect six sites offered for the new camp and to report the one most nearly meeting all requirements at a meeting of the Northeast Kentucky 4-H Camp Committee in West Liberty May 31. The sites are in Greenup, Floyd, Morgan, Carter, Robertson and Elliott counties. The camp would serve 19 Northeast counties.

Two sites along Licking River in Morgan are being studied. Other sites that most nearly meet the requirements are at Greenbo Lake in Greenup and Dewey Lake in Floyd. The requirements include isolation and water frontage for boating and swimming.

The Morgan committee feels that Morgan has an excellent chance of securing the $100,000 permanent camp that is to be built to serve 19 Northeastern counties.

CANNEL CITY COAL SUPPLY MAPPED

WASHINGTON, April 20—The Cannel City area in Eastern Kentucky contains an estimated 200 million tons of coal, Secretary of the Interior McKay announced today. (Cannel City is in Morgan County).

Of this amount, according to a Geological Survey report, 20 per cent is in beds more than 28 inches thick. Other beds 14 to 28 inches thick may be of future importance, the report said.

The mapping and study of coal and its associated rocks in the 59-square mile Cannel City area were conducted with the co-operation of the University of Kentucky and the Kentucky Geological Survey, Lexington, Ky.

The report contains a map of the Cannel City quadrangle showing the outcrop of seven principal coal beds and the structure of the area by contours mapped on the fire clay coal bed at a scale of 1:24,000 (1 inch equals 2,000 feet).

The Irvine-Paint creek fault and the Caney anticline are also shown. Accompanying maps and tables show coal thicknesses, analyses, reserves, mined areas and correlations of coal seams.

Morgan Sheep Farmers Will Attend Shearing School in Floyd County

Ed Warner, nationally known sheep shearing expert of the Sunbeam Corporation, Chicago, will be principal instructor at a two-day sheep shearing school for Eastern Kentucky to be held in Floyd county April 27 and 28, according to an announcement by Sinclair. The school is sponsored by the Agriculture Extension Service of the University of Kentucky in cooperation with the Bluegrass State Sheep Association.

Some 20 young men and farmers from Morgan, Floyd, Johnson, Martin and Magoffin counties have been enrolled for the course in shearing. In the two-day school they should get enough of the fundamentals that they will need only practice to become expert shearers. Mr. Warner instructs the Australian system of shearing, widely used by experts, and designed to be comparatively easy on both the sheep and the shearer. It requires a minimum of strokes to do the job.

Richard C. Miller, University of Kentucky Sheep Specialist, will be present. While the school can accommodate only the men and boys actually enrolled, any others are welcome to observe. The school starts at 9 a.m. EST.

Those from Morgan who are attending the school are Rex Murphy, Hager Ray and Albert Cecil and son Sammy.

Mize Dairy Breeder Sells Jersey Heifers At Kentucky Sale

Each year the Kentucky Jersey Cattle Association holds sales and offers outstanding registered Jersey cattle for sale to 4-H Club and FFA members for dairy projects.

A committee chooses outstanding dairy animals for this sale. On April 12 Charles Edward Cecil, a registered Jersey breeder of Mize, sold two outstanding registered heifers in a junior sale at Somerset. A total of 27 animals were offered in the sale.

Both animals were Design Domino breeding and were bred and raised by Mr. Cecil.

Charles Edward has an outstanding herd of registered Jerseys from popular bloodlines, according to County Agent Carl W. Sinclanr. He has outstanding registered bull and heifer calves for sale, and a person going into dairying with Jerseys could travel many miles before he found animals of breeding and production qualities found in Mr. Cecil's Jersey herd in Morgan.

Chosen as candidate for queen of the Mountain Laurel Festival to be held in Pineville and Pine Mountain State Park May 26-29 is Betty D. Pack, 20, daughter of Mrs. Mary Pack, Paintsville, representing Eastern State College.

7-YEAR-OLD BOY DROWNS AT ZAG

Dallas McClure, the 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ford McClure of Bilboa, W. Va., drowned in Licking River near Zag last Saturday.

Dona Lee McClure, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ford McClure, had been staying with her grandmother, Mrs. Lyda McClure who lives on the farm of Howard Standafer at Zag, and her parents came to take her back home. Tommy Standafer and Kash McClure had gone to the river to fish and Harry Standafer, age 8, and Dallas, age 7, slipped off and followed them to the river about half a mile away.

The two larger boys were in a boat on the opposite side of the river and heard something fall into the water. When they looked they saw it was the McClure boy. They swam to the place where the boy went under, and finally succeeded, after about twenty minutes, getting him out. The current carried him down the river some distance.

The body was prepared for burial at West Liberty Funeral Home and then taken to Bilboa, W. Va. Monday for funeral and burial.

Burley Price Vote Set For April 28

$46.20 Leaf Support To Apply If Growers Vote 2/3 For Plan

Burley tobacco will continue to have government guaranteed price support at 90 percent of parity ($46.20) this year only if growers throughout the eight-state burley belt approve by a two-thirds majority the acreage control and price support program to be voted on next Thursday, April 28.

If more than one-third of the growers in the eight states vote against the program next Thursday, there will be no government price support for this year's crop. Even if the growers in one state favor the program by two-thirds and the other states run up a total against it that will equal more than one third of all growers, there will be no support price in any state.

Kentucky has the biggest burley allotment of any state, and farm leaders report there is disaffection in neighboring states that have only a small amount of the allotments and that these states may vote against the program. In order to save price supports on burley, Kentucky may have to vote nearly 100% in favor of the program in order to overcome negative votes in other states.

It is for this reason that various Kentucky organization have formed campaigns to secure a record vote in Kentucky. Groups that are working for a "yes" vote include the Kentucky Farm Bureau, the Kentucky Bankers Association, the Kentucky Press Association, Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, the Kentucky Agriculture Department, the Associated Industries of Kentucky, the University of Kentucky and many other groups.

All of these groups are agreed that if the program is voted out, a major source of Kentucky cash income will be destroyed and the resultant affect on business will be near disastrous. Business generally will be set back to a major degree, countless jobs will be eliminated, credit at banks and stores will be dried up, land values will tumble and tax revenue will fall. Thousands of workers will be unemployed, the standard of living will drop, children will go hungry and court collection procedures will increase.

Every producer and his tenants, or those who had a part in the 1954 crop, will be eligible to cast ballots. A record turn-out is expected in Kentucky, as well as the other states in the burley belt.

If two-thirds approve it means that (1) .7 of an acre growers will get a .1 acre cut this year and probably .1 next year; (2) growers of .5 an acre or less will not be affected on allotments; (3) growers of over .7 will be cut 25 percent on the 1955 crop. Ten percent of this was announced last November and there will be an additional 15 percent; (4) price supports on the 1955 crop will be $46.20, a figure recently set by the Department of Agriculture.

If the referendum fails to pass by two-thirds the entire program is abolished and farmers can grow all the burley they want, taking a chance on the price that buyers will pay. The Kentucky Warehouse Association said this week that this would be disastrous and prices would fall to between 15 cents and 20 cents a pound on next year's market because of the tremendous oversupply.

Under the 1955 program, acreage reductions will apply to all farms with allotments of more than one-half acre. Previously the minimum was seven-tenths of an acre. However, on a farm where the allotment was between five-tenths and seven-tenths of an acre, the reduction may not be more than one-tenth of an acre per year.

The new law also increases the penalty on the excess production of 75 percent of the average market price for such tobacco for the preceding marketing year.

Previously the penalty was 50 percent. The filing of false reports will result in a reduced allotment the following year, and over-planted acreage will not be considered in establishing future allotments for the farm.

As soon as the surplus burley is used up, allotments will have to be increased again and the growers who took cuts this year will receive increases in their allotment.

Two Thirds Vote Needed To Keep Leaf Price Support

On Thursday, April 28, Burley tobacco growers will decide in a referndum wheather marketing quotas and price support will be in effect on the 1955 crop.

New legislation (Public Law 21, approved March 31, 1955) amending the law authorizing marketing quotas for tobacco directs the Secretary of Agriculture to redetermine the national marketing quota, and State and farm allotments for Burley tobacco for the 1955-56 marketing year (the 1955 crop). The new marketing quota has been calculated on the basis of the latest available supply-demand statistics.

The Secretary is also directed to hold a referendum among Burley growers to determine whether they are in favor or opposed to the redetermined quota. If more than one-third of the growers voting in this refertndum oppose quotas, no quota will be in effect and there will be no price support on the 1955 crop of Burley tobacco.

If two-thirds or more of the growers voting in this referendum approve marketing quotas they will be in effect for the 1955 crop and price supports will be available at 90 percent of parity.

The new legislation provides also that:

(1) Any acerage of tobacco harvested in excess of the farm acerage allotment for 1955, or for any subsquent crop, cannot be considered in establishing State and farm acerage allotments.

(2) The allotment next established for a farm is to be reduced if any producer on the farm files, or aids, or acquiesces in filing of, any false report about the acerage of tobacco grown on the farm.

(3) The penalty on the marketing of excess tobacco is increased from 50 to 75 percent of the average market price for the preceding marketing year.

POLLING PLACES FOR THE BURLEY REFERENDUM

The Morgan County ASC Committee this week announced polling places where burley tobacco growers in the county's seven communities will vote in the April 28 referendum on burley quotas and price supports.

Polling places for the seven communities are—

West Liberty community—court house
Lenox—Paul Hamilton store
Dingus—Silver Hill store
Ezel—Dillard Murphy's store
Grassy Creek community—Wheeler's Wholesale
Cannel City community—Tom Richardson's store
Blairs Mills community—Oak Hill school house

A new minium Burley tobacco farm acerage allotment has been established for 1956 and following years when the minium becomes the smallest of (1) the allotment established for the farm for the immediately preceding year, (2) five-tenths of an acre or (3) 10 percent of the cropland.

A "revised" allotment notice will be sent to the operator of each farm prior to the referendum. The revised allotment is based on the redetermined national marketing quota reflecting the latest available supply demand statistics. For most farms, the "revised" allotment will be 25 percent less than the 1954 farm allotment. On farms with Burley allotment previously determined for 1955 at .7 acre or at .6 acre, the reduction in the revised allotment will be .1 acre. Farms with a previously determined 1955 farm allotment of 0.5 acre or less will not be further reduced.

The 1954 crop of Burley tobacco turned out to be about 83 million pounds more than was estimated at the time the 1955 national marketing quota was anounced on November 26, 1954. Total supply of Burley tobacco has reached an all-time high of 1,863 million pounds. This supply represents about 3.5 years' using based on current levels of disappearance compared with a desired level by about seven-tenths of a year's usings or about 370 million pounds. Stocks of Burley tobacco held by the Associations under the Government price support program now total 445 million pounds. This includes 222 million pounds from the 1954 crop, when one-third of the crop was placed under loan.

Regulations of the Secretary of Agriculture provide that 1955 Burley tobacco farm acerage allotments will be computed in hundredths of acres instead of tenths of acres as in the past. Also, the planted acerage will be computed in hundredths of acres and if the planted acerage exceeds the farm allotment by one hundredth of an acre or more all of such excess acerage is required

FALSE TEETH
That Loosen
Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

ANNOUNCING OUR NEW LOW-COST
FUNERAL
TO THE PUBLIC

You no longer need to borrow money for cash funeral expense. We are now in position to finance your funerals. No matter how expensive or how low the funeral cost, it will suit your needs.

If you are a farmer, we can give to you a single payment Farmer's Plan, payable in 3, 6, 9 or 12 months when your tobacco crop is sold.

If you have a monthly income, we can offer you a 12, 15 or 18 months plan to pay monthly. Or we can give you a single payment plan to be paid when an estate has to be sold for funeral bills of old age pensioners.

Many are now using this plan and find it to be helpful and non-burdensome. In case of death of persons liable for the funeral expense, the balance is automatically paid up and leaves no burdens on those of the family that remain.

MORGAN'S ECONOMIC FUTURE AT STAKE IN BURLEY REFERENDUM

Farmers raise tobacco for the amount of money they can get out of it.

It is possible for farmers to get as much or more for this year's crop as they did last year's if they grow the kind of tobacco that will sell for the highest price.

If they will work with their county agent and the tobacco specialist at the University of Kentucky and produce bright-colored, thinbodied ripe tobacco and grade it carefully, they will have a good income with less work.

Expressions from farmers in all parts of the county indicate that they are for the support program and are going to use their usual good judgment and sound thinking when they vote next Thursday.

There are few jobs elsewhere where a farmer can go and take his family and make from $500 to $1000 or $2000 a year with the help of his family and live in his own home and raise his food, etc. as he can on the farm.

Sixty percent or more of the income in Morgan county is from tobacco, about 20 percent from livestock and the remainder from other sources. If the 60 percent tobacco income is destroyed, many farmers will not be able to pay their taxes and buy other things. Their farms would not sell for 25 percent of what they will bring now.

Many farmers would have a hard time to secure credit or borrow money were it not for the government guaranteed price of tobacco. Merchants and businessmen could not take a chance of giving them credit if farmers had no tobacco income.

It is our final and absolute belief that any man who votes against the tobacco program votes against his own interest and the interest of every farmer and business in the county. A hope is cherished that not one vote will be registered against the program in Morgan county but that every eligible voter will go to his community voting place and vote "yes" or in favor of continuing the program and price supports.

ANOTHER MILESTONE IN MEDICINE

The news released Tuesday of last week that Salk vaccine had passed its tests with flying colors proves once again that many of the miracles in medicine are not figments of chance but are formulas carefully worked out in laboratories after grueling hours of research and tests.

The scientist who labored to give to the world a vaccine that would rid humanity of a disease that kills and cripples is Dr. Jonas Salk, age 40. What most people felt, Jonas Salk corroborated: the polio vaccine that now bears his name is not entirely a product of his brain; but, as he contends, it is the brainchild of many scientists who have been working for years for a preventive of poliomyelitis. Many long hours of research, trial-and-error testing, hours of pain, and hours of death have preceded Salk vaccine. The greatness of the hour of discovery is that young Dr. Salk delved deep into the annals of medical history and scientific minds for facts that he could couple with his own theories.

It would be well to re-examine one's self and pledge anew to support any drive that could end in a victory over disease. For just as surely as polio dimes have helped find a way to keep bodies undistorted and free from the pain of infantile paralysis, money given to scientific research in fields of other dieases will result ultimately in victory over these too.

Jonas Salk will be a name to be revered down through the years. He will be the recipient of numerous awards due to his vaccine discovery, and these will be completely justified. But one cannot help but feel that his greatest reward is knowing that there need be no polio cripples in the future.

To thousands, the discovery of Salk vaccine has come too late, and there is the inevtiable tug on the heartstrings of parents who cannot help but think of the difference the vaccine would have made to loved ones had the discovery been made a year, month or day earlier. It is this need of emminence in perfecting preventives and cures for the disease-evils of the world that should push one to renewed activity to get dollars for research. Perhaps an increase of funds for such work might gift the world with answers in a matter of months.

It was fittingly dramatic that the proven success of the Salk vaccine against polio was announced on the 10th anniversary of the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt. A sufferer himself of the dread disease, FDR helped organize the campaign to eradicate the disease. The National Foundation's March of Dimes was established in his honor and it was from the funds of this foundation that Dr. Salk and his staff were able to carry on their work. $23 million of March of Dimes funds were used to carry on the experiments that led to the discovery of the vaccine. Everybody who contributed to the March of Dimes drive had a part in this noble achievement.

Kentuckians Pay Less Taxes Than In 1932

FRANKFORT, Ky., April 19—Kentuckians have a greater percentage of their money left after payment of state and local taxes then in the depression period of 1932, the Legislative Research Commission reported in a study entitled "Financing Kentucky's Government",—the first of a series of reports on the State's tax structure and potential tax sources which was directed by the 1954 General Asembly.

Among conclusions of the report are:

The average property tax bill in other states is nearly twice as large as in Kentucky.

Total State and local revenues have risen 353 per cent since 1932, but income payments have increased 53 per cent in the same period.

Six of the seven States adjoining Kentucky levy State and local taxes that are lower per capita than the average for all the States, but all still levy more than Kentucky.

Kentucky is providing a lower level of State and local services than the average for other States.

Most of the burden of taxation in Kentucky is due to Federal taxes, which take 77 cents of every dollar paid by Kentuckians.

The report also pointed out that the total population of Kentucky has risen 12 per cent since 1932, while farm populatidn has declined seven per cent.

In 1932, when individual income was $580,000,000, State and local taxes were $67,000,000 or 12.6 per cent. Ten years later taxes had decreased to 8.1 per cent of the income, and in 1953, with Kentuckians reporting individual incomes of $3,460,000,000—the burden was only 6.7 per cent for State and local purposes.

Junior Class Trip To Mammoth Cave

(By Jean Brown and Earl W. Kinner, Jr., Class Reporters)

Firty-three juniors of MCHS enjoyed a two-day class trip to Mammoth Cave National Park on April 14 and 15,'which was sponsored by Coach and Mrs. Glendon Stanley and Ezra Bach.

The group left the high school at 8 o'clock Thursday morning with Coach Stanley driving the school bus. Stops were made at the Lexington airport, My Old Kentucky Home in Bardstown, and at Lincoln's birthplace in Hodgenville.

The juniors arrived at Mammoth Cave hotel about 3:30 on Thursday afternoon. A very enjoyable evening was spent with members of the group participating in various games, trips to the museum near the hotel, and group singing.

The trip through the cave was started at 10 o'clock Friday at the cave's natural entrance near the hotel. The entire trip lasted for seven hours and covered a distance of seven miles.

The most interesting highlights of the tour included lunch in the beautiful Snowball dining room, which is 267 feet under the surface of the earth, a ride on Echo River, Bottomless Pit, and an experience that no one will soon forget, the total darkness of the cave.

To try and describe the cave with all its wonders, would be an impossible task. All that can be said is that it is breathtakingly beautiful, almost beyond belief.

After the trip through the cave, the juniors returned to the hotel and ate supper. Then they started the trip home, reaching West Liberty about 11:30 Friday.

The juniors all want to take this opportunity to thank Coach and Mrs. Stanley and Mr. Bach for everything we had a wonderful time.

Those who made the trip—

Glen Lykins, Billy Walton, Mary Lykins, Paula Hamilton, Linda Sue Haney, Gerald Chaney, Loretta Chaney, Mary Dryman, Frances Davis, Ruby Day, Rosemary Adams, Bobby Mercer, Joy Ruth, Nona Elam, Rita Faye Hammond, Emma Jean Caskey, Jettie Bach, Darrell Hutchinson, Lewis Holbrook.

Reed-Lynn Wedding Beautiful Event In West Liberty Christian Church

White gladioli, carnations and woodwardia fern made the background in the West Liberty Christian church Friday evening at seven o'clock for the marriage of Miss Claudine Carol Reed to Kenneth Lynn. The impressive double-ring ceremony was performed before a white arch intertwined with white carnations and fern, on either side of which were tall basket-urns holding arrangements of white gladioli. To each side and back of the archway, tall white tapers in seven-branched candelabra added to the candlelight setting.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Crystal Howard of West Liberty and the late Bernard Reed. Mr. Lynn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lynn of Owego, New York.

Reading the marriage vows was the pastor, the Rev. Joseph Ryan Nevius.

A program of nuptial music was presented preceding and during the ceremony by Mrs. Rosaline Emrick, organist, and Major Gardner, soloist. Mr. Gardner's selections were "If I Could Tell You," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her grandfather, Richard Alden Stacy of West Liberty, the bride wore a gown of white marquisette, fashioned with a long fitted bodice. The wide bateau neckline was embellished with tiny white satin flowers which were centered with seed pearls. The sleeves were full to the wrists. The bouffant skirt ended in a chapel train. She wore a veil of tulle attached to a headpiece trimmed in pearls and carried a white wedding Bible topped with a white orchid in a white satin shower.

Mrs. Harold Hammond of West Liberty, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a gown of rose taffeta, made with a fitted bodice and wide neckline, short puffed sleeves and full skirt. Her headpiece was of matching taffeta and net, embellished with pearls. She carried a nosegay of spring flowers. Maid of honor was Miss Jean Schafer of Allentown, Pennsylvania. She wore a gown of rose taffeta fashioned with wide neckline, puffed sleeves and full skirt. Her headpiece was of rose taffeta and net, encrusted with pearls. She carried a nosegay. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Albert Erickson of Long Island, New York, first cousin of the bride; Mrs. Lewis Bradley of Owego, New York, sister of the groom; Mrs. Paul Lerald Reed of West Liberty, sister-in-law of the bride; and Mrs. LaRue Peyton of Louisville, Ky. Their gowns were of blue taffeta and were fashioned similarly to the gowns of the other bridal attendants. They wore matching headpieces and carried nosegays.

Sharon Bradley of Owego, New York, was flower girl. Her gown was rose taffeta, fashioned floor length with tiered skirt.

Train bearers were Ellen Sue Ross of Detroit, Michigan and Gail Erickson of Long Island, New York, second cousins of the bride. They wore identical gowns of rose taffeta, made with fitted bodice, short cap sleeves, wide neckline and tiered skirt.

The ringbearer was Master Daniel Alden Erickson of Long Island, New York.

Serving as best man was Sergeant Edward Kuros of Fort Jay, New York. Ushers were Messrs. Paul Lerald Reed of West Liberty, brother of the bride; Richie Morris Stacy of West Liberty, first cousin of the bride; Harold Hammond of West Liberty, the bride's brother-in-law, and Albert Erickson of Long Island, New York.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mrs. Crystal Howard was hostess to a reception in the Fellowship Room of the Christian church. Approximately 250 guests enjoyed this social event. Mrs. Howard received her guests in a gown of mauve net and alencon lace over silk. Her shoulder corsage was of rose camellias. In the receiving line in addition to Mrs. Howard and the wedding party were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lynn. Mrs. Lynn wore a gown of blue chantilly lace. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Aides at the reception were Mrs. Cortis K. Stacy, who cut and served the wedding cake. Mrs. Stacy wore a beige gown of crepe and lace and her corsage was white carnations.

The bride's table was covered with a white linen cloth, with handmade drawn-lace insertions. Centering the table was a four-tiered wedding cake topped with the traditional miniature bride and groom. Flanking the cake were white tapers in silver candelabra.

Presiding at the silver tea and coffee service was Mrs. Charles Eugene Cain of Morehead. Mrs. Cain's gown was ballerina length aqua blue net. The table was covered with a handmade linen cloth with squares of hand-drawn lace. A floral arrangement of spring flowers was used.

Mrs. Neil Penrod Hunley of West Liberty presided at the silver punch bowl. She wore blue marquisette in ballerina length.

Miss Natalie Elaine Stacy of West Liberty, first cousin of the bride, registered the guests.

The new Mrs. Lynn is a graduate of Morgan County high school and attended Morehead State College. She entered the Women's Army Corps of the United States Army, serving two years at Fort Monroe, Virginia, where she worked in the office of the adjutant general. She spent one year in Japan. At the time of her marriage, she was a sergeant and was stationed at Fort Jay, New York City, where she had been for two years.

The groom was graduated from Owego Free Acadamy and the Albany School of Pharmacy in New York. He served in the United States Army and was stationed at Fort Jay. He is now associated with his father, also a pharmacist, in a drug store in Owego.

For going away, the bride wore a suit of beige wool and mink with brown accessories.

The couple went to Lexington for a brief stay after which they went to the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Godfrey in Leesburg, Virginia to spend a week. They will then go to Owego, New York where they will make their home.

FLORRESS—

A RURAL POET'S PHILOSOPHY

By Nora Easterling

"LET'S LIVE NOW"

Pleasure?
Why do we see for it,
When there's pleasure all around?
Where? Can't you see it?
In you is where it's found.
Trouble?
Forget it while you can.
Don't build on something sad.
Fight it, you know you can.
All hearts are to be glad.
Wealth?
Find it where you are.
Just stay right with your job.
You can't? Why, sure you can.
Have faith and do not sob.
Some Day?
Oh, no, not then; but now.
Why do we wait, anyhow?
When all we get from life
Is what we do right now?

OUR SCHOOLS

(Eidtor's note—This is the third in a series of articles by The Department of Classroom Teachers of Kentucky Education Association).

Do you know the 390 simple arithmetic combinations? or the 765 higher decade combinations? Or the 40,095 two number division combinations with single number quotients? Or are you one of those count on the finger and toes guys of the old school?

Today's elementary school teaches these plus many more facts to every child who can learn. You probably ask yourself, how can they posibly do it? It isn't easy in overcrowded classes, but some of the ways are these.

Although many children know how to count to ten or even a school, teachers begin with counting real objects, such as books or chairs. From counting objects, the teacner moves with the child to grouping objects.

The teacher tells John to count the chairs in his group, then tell the number, thus connecting numbers with objects and questions with answers.

In good classrooms the children work in small groups where the individual child has greater opportunity to take part in the activity related to learning and where his attention is more easily held. Problems are given which concern the groups.

The teacher tells the class, "The group having the most boys may go to the playground first." Each member counts the boys in his group, but he has to compare his number with those of each of the other groups before he arrives at a decision. So reasoning is added to the basic idea of numbers.

The good elementary teacher blocks, beads, dolls, clock faces, toy money, fraction charts, filmstrips and movies to make learning of the thousands of arithmetic facts and processes easy and meaningful. Upper grade children work with thermometers, barometers, speedometers, roadmaps and timetables.

Speed and accuracy are vital in twentieth centuryliving. These qualities get first attention in arithmetic classes, where drill and memory work make both posible. Drill make sense to a child when he sees a reason for doing it.

Junior high arithmetic reviews skills learned in lower grades. Most occupations stress working with decimal numbers, with which the child is familiar as dollar and cents.

Each child tells what he wants to do when he finishes school. The teacher makes a chart of each child's name and future job John, who wants to be a carpenter, pretends to buy food from Mary, who wants to clerk in a store. Mary employs John to build a garage. After paying each other for the job done, each deposits the money in his bank, filling out deposit slips and receiving a correctly entered bank book.

John learns to write checks after making his own and putting them into a book like his parents' checkbook. Class banking officers check each deposit slip, check and stub for correct entry. Some children like to keep bank records. They keep acounts straight, informing each child if he is overdrawn or the balance accurate. A teacher may see that the child experiences lack of money to do what he desires. Then the child learns to borrow ond how to handle interest. Here the idea of honesty and responsibility in repaying borrowed money is taught.

Without character knowledge is a dangerous thing. If a high school student can make himself think through a problem to completion he has gained a victory over self. Patience, thoroughness, truth and honesty are exercised in the solution of higher mathematics problems.

Plato said, "God eternally geometizes." The inclination of the sunflower's head is found to follow the lofarithmic curve. Students learn that man gets his standard geometric forms from God's creations. An orange is a sphere; a pine tree is a cone; a snowflake is a hexagon.

Fun and instruction are combined in such exercises as acting out the sountion of a problem in indirect measurement on the classroom floor when inclement weather prevents field work. chairs pushed against the walls the floor becomes a lake, outlined in chalk, with rocks and lighthouses along the shore, real toy boats and bouys afloat. Lighthouses are sighted through student-made transits and danger angles avoided. Lengths of lakes or widths of rivers are measured without getting wet feet.

Thus while theoretical mathematics in high school prepares the future engineer or atomic scientist, it also is a very practical help to the adolescent child at a time when he most needs strengthening.

2nd SET OF TWIN CALVES

The Courier—

Well, as it is about time the local fishermen should be coming through with some of their tall tales concerning fishing, I am going to beat 'em to the punch by telling one that doesn't concern fishing, and it's the truth. (But of course, I don't doubt the stories of any of our local fishermen.)

It concerns a cow.

I own a Tennessee Jersey. On March 28 she gave birth to twin calves which may not be unusual within itself, but this is the second set of twins within the last eleven months, born to the same cow. The first set was calved the first day of last May. That pair topped the market at about eight weeks of age, the two weighing 365 pounds.

This may not be a happening that would excite R. L. Ripley but I think it unusual for this community. If this kind of mass production was general, I think it might seriously affect the price of cattle. Wishing you fishermen lots o' luck at the Ol Fishin' Hole, and otherwise.

Barletta Jo Elliott, an English major at the University of Kentucky, has been awarded a $1200 fellowship to the Peabody and Vanderbilt College in Nashville for 1955-56.

Barletta Jo is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Elliott. She was a member of the 1952 graduating class at Morgan County high school. She will receive her AB degree in English from UK in August. Therefore, she is completing her four years work there in three. She has been among the top students in her class, also doing part time work to earn her room and board.
